The Miser.

Many a man with his whole soul immersed in business and money-getting is like the miser whose spring door shut and locked him in forever. Mean work and worry and get sick and broken down, forgetting all the time that health is worth more than money. A sick man cannot be happy; he cannot accomplish the work he has to do in this world; he loses the very money he is striving for; his ambition defeats itself. Any man who discovers that his strength and energy are giving way has an unfailing means of regaining his physical health and stamina in the simple yet all-potent restorative power of that wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" originated by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the world-famous specialist in diseases of the nutritive organs.

Among the thousands who have consulted him by mail the case of Mr. Newton Blake, of Tiptonville, Tipton Co., Miss., as shown in the following letter indicates the remarkable efficacy of his treatment. In December, 1898, my health began to fail. I tried many different kinds of medicines and the more I took the worse the disease grew. Finally in April when I was busy with the farm work my health got so bad that I could not hold out to work one hour. My breath became short and I was weak and nervous, and sometimes would vomit blood. I was unable to work. I tried one of the doctors in the vicinity but failed to obtain relief. I seemed to grow worse. My father received a book from Dr. Pierce in which I read of a cure similar to his, and decided to write to Dr. Pierce. He recommended me to take his "Golden Medical Discovery." After taking six bottles of this remedy I can recommend it as one of the best medicines to build up the system. I am now enjoying good health.

Torpid liver and constipation are surely and speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe. They regulate, tone up and invigorate the liver, stomach and bowels. No substitute urged by mercenary dealers is as good.

One That Once Cost Citizen George Francis Train $300,000.

A broken window pane once cost George Francis Train more than $300,000. It was this way: Citizen Train, "with the brains of 30 men in his head, all pulling different ways," went to Omaha in the spring of 1864. At that time he was the most talked of man in America. He had not a thing but money. He bought 5,000 city lots, and altogether spent several hundred thousand dollars. He boarded at the Herndon House, the best hotel in eight. The quixotic Train was regular in only one thing—his habits. He always occupied the same seat at the table. One morning a pane of glass was broken out of a window directly behind his chair. He protested and was advised to change his seat. He would not. Instead he paid a servant 10 cents a minute to stand between him and the draft. After breakfast he expostulated with the landlord, but received no satisfaction. "Never mind," said Train. "In 60 days I will build a hotel that will ruin your business."

And he did. The contract was let that day. Scores of men were put to work. The site selected was Ninth and Harney streets, near the Missouri river. Citizen Train went to New York and engaged Colonel Cozzens, a noted caterer of that city, as manager for his hotel. The building alone cost $40,000. The furnishings cost $30,000 more. In the basement was a gas plant—the only one west of St. Louis. The work was done on time, and, true to his word, 60 days after he threatened the manager of the Herndon House George Francis Train, citizen of the earth, opened his hotel, which he called the Cozzens House. The grand opening ball was attended by the governor of Nebraska and his staff, the mayor of Omaha and many notables from other states. The house was a place of glory and a scene of almost oriental magnificence. Just when the big reception was well on there was a sudden flash, a strange noise, and then—total darkness! The gas plant had collapsed.

The Cozzens House did a flourishing business for a year or two and the Herndon House was badly crippled. Finally Train fell out with his manager and the place was closed. After the business part of Omaha moved back from the river the Herndon House declined and finally relapsed into a state of innocuous desuetude. A few years later it became the property of the Union Pacific railroad and is still used as the headquarters of that company in Omaha.

Dr. H. H. Hibbard, a St. Louis dentist, was the first clerk of the Cozzens House.

Spelling and Alcohol.

"Remember," says an experienced New York physician, "that alcohol stimulates the heart and circulation in much the same way as exercise does and that if you use it in any form while wheeling the reaction is speedy and far-reaching."

In the same way a long ride should never be undertaken immediately after a plentiful meal, this also tending to interfere with the heart's action and respiration.

A Foreign Writer's Burden. "I find your political terms very puzzling," remarked the foreigner who was trying to gather material for a book on American institutions. "For example, to rotate means to move in a circle. A ring also means a circle. Now I am told that when a ring controls your offices they don't rotate any more."—Chicago Tribune.

A European statistician has discovered that only 55 per cent of the blonds marry, while 79 per cent of their brunette sisters engage in matrimony.

Forty tons of rust have been taken out of the Menal iron tubular bridge at one cleaning.

CARRIED BY CROOKS.

They Possess All Manner of Weapons.

TOOLS FOR HOUSE-BREAKING.

Skeleton Keys, Jimmies, Masks, Wigs, Chloroform, Knives and Guns.

A small but variegated arsenal is kept at police headquarters in this city. There are weapons of offense and defense, house breaking kits and anesthetics to render burglarious attempts more likely to prove successful.

The Reno constabulary has often a hard lot of thugs to contend with, being on the main artery of traffic.

Yesterday afternoon a JOURNAL scribe was shown the collection above referred to. The weapons, etc., were taken from persons arrested and are kept by the officers as a token of remembrance.

Of small firearms there are twelve or more, ranging in size from the dainty little .22-short to the big 44's with barrel a foot long.

The knife or dagger portion of the collection is even more comprehensive. An assortment of clasp knives are the least dangerous looking of the lot, although on the blades of several blood can still be seen, the owners of the knives having been taken red-handed.

On another blade, that of a dagger, can be seen the rusty blood marks. This is a dainty little weapon of true Damascus steel, with hilt of sterling silver inlaid with pearl. But it went between a man's ribs once, although the wielder was a little mite of a woman. "A perfect hell-cat," say the officers who arrested her for the crime. Not long ago they took a Malay crease from a prisoner. This is one of the most dangerous of blades. The curves of its keen edges cause an ugly wound.

Some of the offenders could not afford (or could not steal) daggers or stilettos, so they ground table knives to so sharp a point that they serve their purpose just as well.

A man must need a knife badly to go to the trouble of converting a file into one, but such is the case.

Meaneat of all the weapons in the collection are the slung shots and skull crackers. Think of being struck with a coupling pin, a one pound cannon ball, tied in the corner of a napkin, or by a round stone attached to a rope a foot long.

Some of the prisoners carried bottles of chloroform. These in themselves would have been suspicious but were made more so by the skeleton keys and "jimmies" that accompanied them.

Announcement.

I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell at bedrock prices. I wish to call particular attention to a working shirt I am handling. It is undoubtedly the best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.

I have all the latest patterns in golf and negligee shirts, in silks and madras cloths.

I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler overall, famous on this Coast as being the best fitting and most durable overall on the market. It is riveted, triple-sewed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

Free employment office in connection with the store.

ALFRED NELSON.

Will be a Test Case.

District Attorney Williams filed a complaint in Justice Linn's court yesterday in the matter of the Board of Commissioners of Washoe county, acting as trustees for the town of Reno, vs. Dan O'Keefe, proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, to recover license for keeping a liquor bar for the quarter beginning May 15th.

The case will be defended in order to test the authority of the town, acting under its ordinances and the general laws, to collect license on certain kinds of business and amusement within the town.

Painted the Town.

A bibulous individual drifted into town yesterday afternoon and proceeded to decorate the village a brilliant carmine tint. He finally considered it his duty to disperse a crowd of young men at the corner of Second and Virginia streets. They stood their ground and the mix-up was becoming very interesting when Deputy Sheriff Hayes happened along and gathered the bibulous individual unto himself.

Improvement Association Meeting.

The general officers of the Reno Improvement Association met in Judge Cheney's office yesterday afternoon. President W. O. H. Martin occupied the chair. A number of the committees were filed, and in order to complete appointments another meeting will be held Saturday, after which announcements of the personnel of the committees will be made.

Semi-Tropical Nevada.

Bunkerville is situated in the southeastern part of the county, on the proposed line of the Utah and Pacific railway. The climate is as fine as any in the world; the land is rich and when well watered will raise the finest of grapes, hay, cotton, peaches, oranges, grapes, figs, vegetables and, in fact, anything that will grow in a warm, even climate and when the district is placed on the line of a great trans-continental railway, will become a close competitor of California. A big boom is close at hand for south-eastern Lincoln county. —Delamar Leader.

FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

How to Obtain This Institution.

THE LADIES TO THE RESCUE.

They Offer to Assist the Reno Improvement Association Committee.

It is probable that the long contemplated public library for this city or school district may soon be assured. The ladies of Reno stand ready to co-operate heartily with the committee of the Reno Improvement Association which has the library matter within its jurisdiction.

Mrs. John T. Orr says in behalf of the Twentieth Century Club: "The ladies are pledged to serve on committees, make canvasses or do anything in their sphere to bring about this result so much desired by them."

Frank H. Norcross kindly furnishes our readers with the law under which the library may be provided for. By act of 1897, the law reads:

"Whenever a petition for the establishment of a free public library, signed by a majority of the tax payers or by tax payers representing a majority of the taxable property, as shown by the last preceding assessment roll of any city, unincorporated town or school district, shall be presented to the board of county commissioners of the county in which said city, unincorporated town or school district is situated, accompanied by affidavit of one or more of the signers thereof that the signatures thereto are genuine, the said board of county commissioners shall levy annually thereafter, in the manner and at the time other taxes are levied, a tax upon all the taxable property in the said city, unincorporated town or school district, of not less than ten cents nor more than fifty cents on each $100 valuation of the taxable property therein, for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as the Library Fund."

In the school district in which Reno is situated the taxable property is assessed at $2,000,000. A tax of ten cents upon the hundred dollars would yield an annual fund of $2,000, sufficient to pay all expenses of operating the free library and to purchase in a few years an excellent collection of books.

A number of ladies are also willing to serve upon committees to solicit subscriptions to institute and maintain a library, provided there should be opposition to the plan of raising the money by taxation.

One of the ladies suggests that a library could be made self-sustaining by an annual fee to be paid by such of the patrons as feel able and willing to contribute to its support.

Would Have Forgotten It.

County Treasurer Boyd informed a JOURNAL reporter that more tax money came in yesterday than any day since they were due. Several of the taxpayers said they noticed the item in Monday's JOURNAL relative to the matter or the chances were they would have forgotten it. Twelve more days remain before the taxes become delinquent. Moral—It pays to read the JOURNAL.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

PUNISHING AN EDITOR.

The Curious Method Adopted in a South American Country.

Curious methods of punishing indiscreet editors are in vogue in some countries. In "South American Sketches" Mr. Crawford describes the interesting experience of an editor who had been unfortunate enough to give offense to the ruling powers by the freedom of his criticisms.

The editor was arrested and confined in a narrow passage between the cages of two jaguars, notorious for their bad tempers and their intense dislike for human society.

The intervening space was so regulated that neither of the ferocious animals could get its paws quite to the middle line between the cages, so that a spare, active person, if very careful to follow the classical advice about the advantages of steering a middle course, might manage to pass without special injury, though the achievement would be both exciting and dangerous.

Our editorial friend happened to be stout, and therefore was the more easily reached by the occupants of the cages. As if to add insult to injury, he was given a chair on which to sit and at the same time was furnished with a copy of his own paper, the issue which had brought him into trouble, in order that he might meditate upon its contents.

He tried to sit motionless and bolt upright, feeling those sleepy, cruel eyes fixed upon him. At the slightest movement of the rustle of the paper uneasy mutterings arose from the cages, and a paw would stretch stealthily toward him. Leaning quickly to the other side, he was sure to be met by the ugly claws of the second jaguar. It was a case of Scylla and Charybdis.

Every few minutes the jaguars became wildly excited and clawed fiercely at the shrinking editor, who, do his best, could not escape those rending toe nails. His clothing was torn to shreds, but except for a few scratches he was not really injured.

AN ENCHANTED PITCHER.

The Rele of a Fatality. It Is Preserved by Superstition.

About five miles from Aiken, S. C., on the Charleston dirt road and in sight of the railway, is a little place that was first christened Polecat, but afterward changed to Montmorenci, the French for that odorous little animal. Many years ago a young woman came with her pitcher to draw a bucket of water from a well at Montmorenci and set the vessel in the hollowed top of a stone post that some of the railroad men had moved there. While drawing the water a flash of lightning came that struck the chain to which the well bucket was attached, and the woman was killed in her tracks. Her remains were removed, but the pitcher was left, just where the dead girl had set it. To this day the pitcher remains in the same place, and, so far from being removed, it is said that no living hand has ever touched it save its owner's, although near the side of the public road.

But the most wonderful thing is the superstition attached to the pitcher. There is an indescribable influence surrounding it that prevents its touch. Hundreds of people have gone with the firm determination of lifting the pitcher, but when they approach it a strange repugnance comes over them, and they hurriedly depart without carrying out the object of their visit.

One night a bully in the neighborhood, while under the influence of whisky, made a bet with some friends that he would go and bring back the pitcher. He left to do so, but soon returned as pale as a sheet and empty handed. "Boys," he remarked, "no person alive can lay hands on that pitcher, and I wouldn't attempt it again for the whole of Aiken county."

He refused to tell his experience and said he would not talk about it. Other parties have gone to see it, but met with the same repulsive feelings.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
